The Year . . .

School years begin in different ways for different people. For 666 students at Francis Marion College it was a giant leap from the world of the immature, happy-go-lucky, yet ever so confused "Harry High School" to that of the maturing, happy-go-lucky, yet ever so confused "Joe College". Freshmen started their venture on August 27 with Fall Convocation in the newly completed McNair Auditorium. For the rest of the student body, the year began at Registration on August 30, when an attitude of self-satisfaction ("Another fall, another year"), determination ("I've got to make better this year"), or apathy ("I could care less") prevailed. Yet these reactions are not unusual, for the same attitudes exist at almost any institution.

Activities of the year began in a relaxed and easy manner with a Pool Party and Welcome Dance on September 9 at Oakdale Country Club. Though attendance at the dance was not tremendous and that at the pool party was even less, the year got off to a fun-filled start. Several other dances held throughout the year served to balance the daily academic grind: a costume party at Halloween, the annual Christmas Dance in honor of Miss FMC and Court, and a dance at the Florence Country Club to celebrate the College's first Homecoming. But probably the most exciting event was the Christmas Dance at Oakdale Country Club: not only did Bill Deal and the Rhondells put on an outstanding show but the dance floor itself followed the beat by keeping time to the songs of the past and the present that were performed. Making its appearance for the first time on the Francis Marion calendar was the November Happening, which featured Big Brother and was a step forward in that it was the first College-sponsored presentation of a total rock concert. Balancing these offerings was the Artist Series, which provided students with four first-rate cultural events — performance of Shakespeare's The Tempest by The Everyman Players and concerts by harpist Mildred Dilling, soprano Virginia Babikian, and violin and harpsichord duo The Lucktenburgs. Complementing these programs was a series of monthly films by internationally famous directors.

One of the most outstanding events on campus was Patriot Week (September 11-14). Beginning with Red, White, and Blue Day on Monday, the week saw a parachuting demonstration and Little Southern 500 Bicycle Race on Tuesday and field events on Thursday. But Patriot Week was only an initial rallying of students. November saw the beginning of intercollegiate basketball. Though Francis Marion has been known in the past for its developing teams, this year saw the squad grow in height and ability but encounter another problem — inconsistency. The Patriots started off the season with what appeared to be the usual as they lost their first two games to Central Wesleyan (90-69) and N. C. Wesleyan (83-71). But the sweet taste of victory soon came: a well-balanced scoring attack gave the Patriots their first win with a 79-64 victory over St. Andrews. After their third loss of the season to Newberry, FMC went on to defeat the high-flying Eagles of Toccoa Falls, though Toccoa had scored over 100 points against each of their last two opponents. After losing their next three games (Wofford: 72-58, Erskine: 76-63, and Presbyterian: 86-68), the Patriots picked up their third win by defeating St. Andrews for the second time. The next game proved to be a heart-breaker as FMC fell to NAIA District 6 leader Newberry (98-96); however, the Patriots won their next encounter 95-54 with a smashing victory over Coker College. As the season continued, the Patriots won only one of their next five games (Erskine: 76-54, Morris: 90-62, Pembroke: 90-62, N.C.Wesleyan: 68-74, and College of Charleston: 116-98). The single win came as Francis Marion gained revenge over an earlier loss by defeating the N.C. Wesleyan Bishops. As this copy was prepared, the record stood at five wins and twelve losses; however, both records and statistics, when compared with those of last year, suggest a much brighter future for the Patriots.

The year had its ups and downs. The Campus Crier ceased publication during first semester because of a change in editors, but it started right back in full swing just prior to the Christmas break. The school had nine seniors named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities: Debra Branstiter, Diane DeVaughn, Frank Elmore, Dale Godwin, Debra Hobbs, Gloria Lussier, Wanda Mercer, Wendell Sowell, and Cliff Stumbo. And the College was fortunate when President Smith, mentioned as a potential candidate for President of Winthorp College, announced his decision to remain at FMC.

Overall, the year 1972-1973 was like almost any other year. Yet if one word could sum it all up, that word would probably be apathy. Though the word is heard often enough and though you, the reader, are probably sick of it and could care less (that's apathy right there), there's no condemnation meant. Facts show that some three-fourths of the 1954 students limited their involvement to nothing more than attending classes, which means that around four to five hundred students were spread throughout twenty different campus organizations. Hardly a handful made it to any one of the thirteen events scheduled by the Artist Series. The eight dances and concerts presented by the Entertainment Committee received more response, but the maximum attendance was 700, and that was only at one event. It might also be of interest to point out that only 550 students bought copies of this book — a fact that makes one question whether it's really worth the effort. Regardless, the year 1972-1973 at Francis Marion College was a reality, and whether that reality was good or bad depends on the individual.

In the following pages, we, the yearbook staff, hope to present the reality of 1972-1973 as seen through the eyes of those who shaped it. We believe you'll find this book slightly different. There are no sections, such as sports, student life, etc. And outside of what you're reading now, there's no copy. Each event of the year is presented in chronological order — as it happened — simply by the use of layout and photography. We cannot guarantee that every page will tell the story of an event, although several do, but it is our sincere hope that each page will create the spirit of an event and bring back a memory. If it doesn't, you were probably one of the 1,400 students who didn't get involved, and, if that's the case, you probably don't own a copy of the book anyway.
